REPORT.

FINANCES.

THE number of Pupils in the College and Junior School during the Session 1842–43 was 910. In the Faculty of Arts and Laws there were 196 Students, of whom 9 attended exclusively the Law Classes, and 38 were entered only to the Classes for Schoolmasters of the Patriot Endowment Fund. The Students of the Faculty of Medicine amounted to 334, and the Pupils of the Junior School to 380. The largest number of boys in the School in any single term was 301.

The amount of receipts from Students and Pupils was 14,106*l.* 16*s.* 10*d.*; of this sum 7291*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* was derived from the Students of the Medical Faculty; 2399*l.* 10*s.* from those of the Faculty of Arts and Laws; and 4415*l.* 13*s.* 6*d.* from the Junior School.

The sum of 14,106*l.* 16*s.* 10*d.* was disposed of as follows:— 8729*l.* 7*s.* 4*d.* was paid to the Professors and Masters: 2469*l.* 15*s.* to the Hospital Committee (making, with 405*l.* 8*s.*, payments by Resident Students and Pupils, 2875*l.* 3*s.* towards the maintenance of that Establishment): the remainder, 2907*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.*, was retained as the College portion of the fees of Students. Adding to that sum 500*l.*, a donation from "Patriot," 120*l.* 14*s.* 4*d.* received for Dividends on temporary Investments and unappropriated Endowments, and 29*l.* 8*s.* from fees on transfers of shares and other sources, the receipts during the year on account of the College Fund amounted to 3557*l.* 16*s.* 10*d.* The disbursements were 3851*l.* 4*s.* 6*d.*, and the balance at the bankers was consequently reduced by 293*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.*, the amount of the difference between the receipt and expenditure. On this excess of expenditure over receipts, it is to be observed that the disbursements were somewhat below those of the former year, when the receipts covered the expense: that an outlay of about 400*l.* was incurred for permanent improvements of the property of the College during the vacation, when there was no apparent cause for anticipating that the receipts of the ensuing Session would be less than those of the preceding one. If, on the one hand, the 500*l.* donation of Patriot, being a capital sum and not income, should not in strictness be dealt with as a receipt on account of that year; on the other, credit might properly be taken for the interest that had accrued on the legacy of the late Mr. Brundrett, amounting to at least an equal sum.

In the current Session the Classes of the Medical Faculty are about the same as last year; the number of new Students, which is 87, being one more. The total number at this time is 293: the fees amount to 3789*l.* 3*s.* 4*d.* The new entries to the Hospital Practice at the present date are 91, and the sum received for fees is 1989*l.*

In the Faculty of Arts, although the number of new Students is exactly the same as last year, the total is somewhat less: the former is 65, the latter 127. The fees amount to 1950*l.* 8*s.* 8*d.* The attendants on the Schoolmasters' Class are 34. In the Junior School there are this term 268 Pupils, at the corresponding term of last year they were 296.

PROFESSORSHIPS.

In the course of the last Session the term of two years for which the Special Professorship of Clinical Medicine at the Hospital was instituted, expired; but the Council being satisfied that the discontinuance of the Professorship would be disadvantageous to the Hospital and to the Medical School, determined on keeping it on foot; and Dr. Taylor still fills the Chair. Mr. Cooper having resigned the office of Surgeon to the Hospital, received the appointment of Consulting Surgeon; and the duties of Acting Surgeon devolved on Professor Quain.

The terms for which Mr. Vignoles and Mr. Webster held their respective appointments having also expired, Mr. Vignoles accepted the office of Professor of Civil Engineering for two years more, and Mr. Webster was permanently appointed to the Chair of Geology.

At the end of the last Session Mr. Charles Brooke, B.A., formerly of St. John's College, Cambridge, was appointed to the vacant Professorship of Natural Philosophy, but he resigned his office early in the current Session. Under a temporary arrangement then made, Professor De Morgan now conducts the studies of the Class of the Mathematical department of Natural Philosophy, and gives a Course of Lectures to the Class of Schoolmasters; Mr. Brooke continues the Experimental Course of Natural Philosophy until the end of the Session. Steps are taking in order that the vacant Professorship may be filled up before the commencement of the next Session.

The Professorship of Jurisprudence has been resigned by Mr. Graves; and Mr. Hargreave, B.L., of the University of London, and formerly a Student of this College, has been selected to fill that Chair. The Professorship of Chinese has become vacant, in consequence of the death of the Rev. Mr. Kidd; and the Council have advertised the vacancy; but they have not yet found a successor.

STUDENTS.

In consequence of the Flaherty Scholarship in Mathematics for the former year not having been awarded, an extraordinary Mathematical Scholarship was at the disposal of the Council for the present Session, and was obtained by Mr. George Jessel, at the Examination in January. There will be an extraordinary Scholarship in Classics tenable for three years, and a four years' Scholarship in Mathematics, to be competed for in January next. The Council have recently extended the limit of age in Candidates for the Flaherty Scholarship from 20 to 21 years.

The credit of the College has been well maintained by the Students at the Examinations of the University during the past year. A large proportion of them were placed in the first Classes of the respective branches of Examination; and the following Prizes were obtained:—On taking his Degree of B.A., by Mr. George Jessel, the University Scholarship in Mathematics and Natural Philosophy, and a Prize of Books, for proficiency in Vegetable Physiology and Structural Botany; by Mr. Bunnell Lewis, the University Scholarship in Classics; by Mr. William James Champion, a Prize of Books, for his voluntary Examination in the Scriptures and Scripture History: On being admitted to the Degree of Bachelor of Laws, by Mr. Charles James Hargreave, for his Examination in Jurisprudence, the University Law Scholarship: On taking the Degree of Doctor of Medicine, by Mr. Alfred Baring Garrod, a Gold Medal and a Certificate of Special Proficiency for his Examination in Medicine; and Mr. John Deakin Heaton, a Gold Medal and Certificate of Special Proficiency, for his Commentary on a Case in Medicine: On graduating as B.M., by Mr. Edward Ballard, the University Scholarship and a Gold Medal, for his Examination in Physiology and Comparative Anatomy, and a like Scholarship and a Gold Medal for his Examination in Medicine; by Mr. John Topham, the University Scholarship and a Gold Medal, for his Examination in Surgery; by Mr. Silas S. Stedman, a Gold Medal, for the same subject; by Mr. Henry Fearnside, a Gold Medal, for his Examination in Medicine: On the First Examination for the Bachelorship of Medicine, by Mr. Alfred Jackson, the Exhibition and a Gold Medal in Anatomy and Physiology; and by Mr. James Hakes, the Exhibition and a Gold Medal for Chemistry, and the Exhibition and Gold Medal for Materia Medica and Pharmaceutical Chemistry.

A London University Calendar has been recently published for the first time, under the authority of the Senate of the University. As containing the record of the proceedings of an Institution to the creation of which the exertions of the Proprietors of this College so greatly contributed, it will be referred to with interest. The number of Colleges and Schools in the United Kingdom, recognised as connected with the University, are 22 of the Faculty of Arts, and 55 of the Faculty of Medicine. Of those of the Faculty of Arts, 18 are in England, 1 in Wales, and 3 in Ireland; of the Medical Schools, 30 are English, 19 Irish, and 6 Scotch. Certificates from many private Medical and Surgical Teachers in the large towns of the kingdom are also recognised.

The number of Degrees conferred by the University has amounted to 232 in five years. Of these Degrees, one is that of LL.D., 19 are those of Doctors of Medicine, 7 of Masters of Arts, 16 of Bachelors of Laws, 67 of Bachelors of Medicine, and 122 of Bachelors of Arts. From this College the Graduates have been in Laws, the one Doctor and 13 of the Bachelors; in Medicine, 11 Doctors and 28 Bachelors; in Arts, the 7 Masters, and 54 of the Bachelors. Eighteen Scholarships and 22 Exhibitions have been conferred as rewards on Graduates for proficiency at Examinations—the pecuniary value 3570*l.*; and it is gratifying to find that 16 of the Scholarships and 17 of the Exhibitions, value 2980*l.*, have been obtained by the Students of this College, on whom also 38 out of 55 Gold Medals have been conferred. All the Scholarships that have been awarded by the University for proficiency at the Degree Examination in Mathematics and Classics, as well as in Law and Jurisprudence, and also three out of five Book Prizes for the voluntary Examination in the Scriptures and Scripture History, have been obtained by Students of this College.

During the last Session the Council have, for the first time, exercised the power given them by the Bye Laws, and admitted Students who have graduated with Honours at the University of London to be Members of the College, under the title of Fellows. This distinction has been conferred on the three following gentlemen:—For the Faculty of Medicine, Dr. Taylor, M.D., Professor of Clinical Medicine to the College; For the Faculty of Arts, Mr. Waley, M.A., University Scholar in Mathematics and Flaherty Scholar in Mathematics; For the Faculty of Laws, Mr. John Richard Quain, B.L., to whom the first University Law Scholarship was awarded for his Examination in Jurisprudence.

The Council take this opportunity of making known a measure adopted in the College previously to the opening of the present Session, for assisting in finding for Students, who are without connections in London, residences in which they may be under some degree of domestic control during the hours which are not spent within the College. With that view a Register is kept, in the office of the College, of respectable families in which Students are received as boarders. This Register is under the control of the Committee of Management, and no party is placed on it until his application and references have been submitted to a Committee of the Senate appointed for the purpose and reported on to the Committee of Management. It contains the names of several Professors of the College and Medical Practitioners.

DONATIONS.

Since the last General Meeting, the College has again experienced the munificence of "Patriot," who in the month of June presented to Lord Brougham an Exchequer Bill for 500*l.*, for the benefit of the College. By this gift the donations of this generous benefactor amounted to 3500*l.*, and with accumulations of interest, form a fund of 3827*l.* 10*s.* Of this sum 2827*l.* 10*s.* constitutes a charge on the College property in place of the mortgage recently paid off; and 90*l.* a year in respect of interest on that sum continues to be applied to the procuring, for a Class of Schoolmasters, Courses of Lectures in Greek, Latin, Mathematics and Natural Philosophy, by the respective Professors of those branches of learning in the College. This application of the fund, which was recommended by the President of the College, the Council have reason to believe has produced beneficial effects. The Classes are attended by an average of 35 Students: several have taken Degrees at the University of London; and some of these have passed distinguished examinations.

The Council have much satisfaction in informing the Proprietors of the successful result of proceedings taken by them in respect to the two important Bequests of the late Mr. Peter Bacon and Mr. Jonathan Brundrett.

In the terms of the reversionary Bequest of 10,000*l.* East India Stock, made to the College in 1839 by the Will of Mr. Bacon, the change in the title of this Institution from that of University of London to University College had been overlooked by the Testator. The Council, desirous to obviate any ill effects which might result from this error in description, and from the possible difficulty of producing evidence at a future period that the College was the object which the Testator had in view, instituted, under the advice of their Law Committee, an amicable suit in Chancery, in which the Widow and Executors of the late Mr. Bacon, and the University of London were made defendants. This suit was brought to a termination before Vice-Chancellor Sir James Wigram, in the month of May last, and in pursuance of the decree then pronounced by him, the fund of 10,000*l.* East India Stock has been transferred into the name of the Accountant-General of the Court of Chancery, in trust for this College after the decease of Mrs. Bacon. The whole expense of these proceedings was defrayed by the College. The Council consider the College to be lying under great obligations to Mrs. Bacon, and Mr. Morris, the Executor and Legal Adviser of Mr. Bacon, for the favourable spirit with which they met the wishes of the Council in this proceeding, and for the facilities which they afforded for the successful termination of the suit. The Senate of the University of London also showed their consideration by allowing the suit to proceed unopposed on their part.

The negotiation with the partners of the late Mr. Brundrett for settling the amount to be received by the College and Hospital in respect of the bequest of his residuary Personal Estate, has been recently concluded. The ascertaining the amount to which the College and Hospital were entitled, presented many serious difficulties, in consequence of the complicated nature of the property of the Testator, and the grounds which existed for doubting what parts of that property were affected by the Statutes of Mortmain. It appeared that the realisation of the assets of such an estate would be a work of much time, trouble and expense, and liable to risk and uncertainty from doubtful securities for debts and other causes. The Council, therefore, were induced to accede to proposals for a compromise, on the basis of a speedy settlement and certainty of the amount to be received. The negotiations terminated in their accepting an offer, that the Residuary Personal Estate passing to the College and Hospital, with the interest due thereon up to the 4th of August last, should be settled at 21,000*l.*, and that the partners should be answerable for the payment, by instalments, of that sum, free from any future deductions or liabilities except such as are charged on the Bequest by the Will of the Testator, and the Legacy Duty. The first instalment to be 5000*l.*, and paid on the execution of the Deeds of arrangement, and the remaining 16,000*l.* to be paid in eight half-yearly instalments of 2000*l.*, with interest at 4 per cent. on the sum from time to time unpaid. Deeds for binding the parties to this arrangement have been executed; and the first Instalment has been paid. The deductions to which this Bequest is liable are two Legacies of 200*l.* each to the Law Association and the Law Institution, and the Legacy Duty on those sums; three Life Annuities of 50*l.*, and 40*l.*, and 10*l.* respectively; and the Legacy Duty. The net sum receivable by the College for principal and interest up to the 4th of August last will be 12,336*l.*, subject to two-thirds of the Life Annuities, or 66*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*, so long as they subsist. The net sum payable to the Hospital is 6168*l.*, subject to one-third of the same Annuities. It will be the duty of the Council to make arrangements for perpetual memorials of the munificent benefactions of the late Mr. Bacon and Mr. Brundrett to these Institutions. It is due to the partners of the late Mr. Brundrett, Messrs. Randall, Simmons and Brown, to state, that they have acted in this negotiation in such a spirit of fairness and accommodation as to deserve the grateful acknowledgements of the College.

The Council cannot close this statement without expressing their entire satisfaction with the zeal and ability of their Solicitor, Mr. Amory, in the suit with the Executors of Mr. Bacon, and the negotiations with the partners of Mr. Brundrett. They feel assured that they are indebted to his high character, judgement, and conciliatory spirit, for the speedy and satisfactory termination of these very important affairs.

CHARLES C. ATKINSON,
Secretary to the Council.
